

Nilufar Alizada

Nakhchivanski street 66A, flat 15., AZ1119.
nilufarakif@gmail.com 0994 506868814

Key skills

Written and verbal communication - built up through essays, presentations during my academic years, and through replying to emails during my office work placement. • Able to gather big groups of people, gained through being leader at Student Union of Khazar University.

Self-motivated, able to meet deadlines and research skills - taking apart into two work placements as a research assistant while completing my academic assignments at Coventry University.

Good organization with attention to detail and able to take on responsibility - given extra responsibilities at Khazar University Career Centre and high school in the form of co-ordinating International Psychology Conferences, important events and school assemblies.

Computer Skills - Ms Office, Paint, SPSS, Web users (Google Chrome, Internet Explorer, Opera, Mozilla Firefox).

Education

2016 – 2017 GB, England, Coventry University MSc. Health Psychology
Modules studied include: Health Promotion and Behaviour change, Bio-psychosocial approaches to Stress, Illness and Health, Introducing Research Informed Practice in Health Psychology, Management of long term conditions and disability. The dissertation topic: The effect of perfectionism on Chronic Fatigue Syndrome risk among international students.

2012-2016 Azerbaijan, Khazar University BSc. Psychology Honour Diploma(A)

2001-2012 Baku, Sabail region, High School N7 A in all grades

Work Experience

2017 Feb – present Khazar University, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, Lecturer

I am a lecturer at Khazar University, teaching 'Human Development' and Biopsychosocial aspects of stress, illness and health' modules.

2017 Feb - Aug Coventry University, Centre for Technology Enabled Health Research (CTEHR);
Research Assistant

The work experience based on a exploring young people's risk appraisals of physical activity

Interests

Oil painting, travelling and taking interesting pictures for my blog.

Reference is available upon request.